Dear Employer

I'm currently seeking a Software Engineering internship with you. I believe I would be a strong asset to you and your company not only with my skills but with my work ethic. I bring not only SQL skills but HTML, CSS, MySQL, Linux Operating Systems, JavaScript and I've done work inside of Oracle database learning from a past oracle senior director in databases. I'm currently a student at Brigham Young University Idaho, studying Computer Information Technologies.

I've worked hard every day of my life to get me to where I am today, and I will bring that same competitive work ethic to always be pushing to the next project and the next objective to help with efficiency. If I don't do something right the first time, I always accept responsibility and will learn from my mistakes and will always try to make it right.

In my current position as a Sales Representative I have encountered all types of people and have learned to work with everyone. I have recorded record high sales but along with that, I've helped multiple people leave with a smile on their face because I've helped them understand a current problem while either fixing it or showing them how to fix it to allow them to become self-sufficient.

I feel like I would be a perfect fit for you with my current work experience and knowledge of things I have learned at my current university.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Bryan Crowder

VOLUNTEER WORK

I served as a service missionary for my church for 9 months in London, England. I had dedicated 2 years of my life for my church but then was later diagnosed with Crohn's Disease, making it so I was unable to finish those 2 years.
